ON EDUCATION.

No. XIII.

WHEN one proposed it to Solon, the famous Athenian legislator, that he should establish equality at Athens, he replied, "First make trial of in your own family." Every family is a little commonwealth, or a government in miniature; and every head of a family is a ruler, in whom is vested, to a certain extent, legislative, judicial and executive authority. This important and venerable station requires prudence, benevolence and a happy mixture of moderation and firmness. The two extremes of boundless indulgence and tyrannical severity are equally pernicious to the interests of children.

The child that is always indulged is in the way to be spoiled. An enervated state of mind, together with restless dispositions and disorderly habits are commonly the effects of too great a degree of parental indulgence. Esop's fable of the monkey, that in the yearnings of her motherly fondness, squeezed her young one to death, aptly denotes the blind affection of those parents who lay no restraint upon their children, but devote themselves to the gratification of all their absurd whims and perverse humours. Such parents, while they make themselves the slaves of those whom they ought to govern, commonly reap the bitter fruits of their misguided fondness, in the undutiful behaviour of their offspring towards them; which often increases with the increase of age. Characters of distinguished piety and worth have sometimes been marked with this foible. Two very remarkable and melancholy instances are given in sacred history.

It is there attested by the reproofing voice of Heaven concerning Eli, that "his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not." His extreme indulgence towards them seems to have been the fatal cause of that horrid profligacy which issued in their utter destruction; and this stands on record as a solemn warning to all who sustain the parental relation. The senior part of the family of David seems also to have been ruined by the extreme indulgence of a father, whose talents, in some respects, were incomparable; who possessed, in a superlative degree, the finer feelings of the human heart; and yet, under peculiar temptations, fell into crimes of the blackest hue, which were succeeded by the lowest profligations of sincere repentance, the exercises whereof he expressed in language the most pathetic, the most humble and contrite, that, perhaps, ever flowed from the lips or the pen of man. The conduct of Amnon, Absalom and Adonijah evinced the most shocking depravity; and the sacred penman remarked concerning the latter (the other most likely experienced a similar indulgence) that "his father had not displeased him at any time, in saying, why hast thou done so?" To this unlimited indulgence of their childhood and early youth may be fairly traced the rebellious dispositions and atrocious conduct of those young men; which overwhelmed their father in floods of anguish, and "brought down his grey hairs with sorrow to the grave."

Equally pernicious, in its effects, is the opposite extreme. An unreasonable rigour, in parental government, has a tendency to benumb the faculties of some children, while it stimulates others to plunge with greediness into scenes of dissipation, as soon as they get free from the domestic yoke.

Severus was a clergyman of respectable talents and irreproachable morals. An enemy to vice, and fearing that his children might be infected with the pollutions of a licentious age, he kept them, as much as possible, from joining their equals even in the innocent amusements of youth. In the mean while, his manners towards them were austere and forbidding, inasmuch that they were ready to tremble at his presence. It has been frequently remarked, that, whenever Severus entered a room where his children were sitting, they were instantly struck mute, and would rise up altogether and leave the room, or else steal out of it, one after another. This rigid discipline had effects directly contrary to the intentions and expectations of the pious father; for his sons, who were naturally sprightly and active, as soon as they had obtained that liberty for which they had long panted, became the most wild and dissipated young men in the place.

Awars is a wealthy farmer, and dreading above all things, left his sons should become spendthrifts, he has always been careful to hedge in their path with thorns. The period of their early youth, deprived as well of the necessary allowance of recreation, as of any considerable degree of school instruction, was consumed in incessant toils. When they grew up and married, their father, planting them around him, still subjected them to the tight rein of parental government; and, with a watchful eye, directed and managed the whole of their concerns. "Will you plant a few peas to-day for summer greens?" said the wife of one of his sons to her husband, who was the thirty years of age. "I will go," replied the dutiful son, "and consult my father upon it." The sons of this over careful father may never be spendthrifts, but they will always be children.

Between the aforementioned extremes in family government, there is a Golden Mean, and happy are those who find it. In this number are Patroclus and his wife Eudocia. Respectable in their behaviour at home, as well as abroad, they have obtained the spontaneous respect of their family. The first lesson they taught their children was obedience to their authority. By carefully cropping the first buddings of obstinacy, they easily moulded them to the habits of submission and order. By noticing and encouraging in them "what ever things are virtuous and lovely," they excited in their minds a strong desire to excel. Their precepts, being uniformly enforced by a correspondent example, are respectfully received and cherished, and become "written, as it were, on the heart." While they are careful to habituate their children to spend their time industriously and usefully, they never deny them innocent and seasonable amusements; and, in the mean time, are at pains to convince them that the restraints and prohibitions, which they lay upon them, are necessary and kindly intended, and conducive to their best interest. They make no display of parental authority. No terrific rod was ever hung up in their house. Patroclus is not seen storming with rage, and "breathing out threatening," and vengeance. Eudocia seldom scolds or frets, and she as seldom is disobeyed. The authority which they exercise over their children is so happily blended with mildness, courtesy and affability, that "that yoke is easy and the burthen is light." With a mild voice, they say to their children, "Go," and they go. "Come," and they come; "do this," and they do it. And this prompt obedience springs more from affection than from fear; it is the sincere homage of mingled respect and love.

FROM THE NEW YORK EVENING POST.

General Washington and President Jefferson.

Of all the impudent attempts at imposition, we do not recollect one which exceeds that to a late National Egis. The editor there boldly declares, that Mr. Jefferson was more in the confidence of General Washington than any other man. That it may appear we are not mistaken in what we say, we will give the editor's own words—"It is known"—but stop; we must give the identical words of the sentence, or we shall be charged with a fabrication; people must be cautious how they quote from this editor, I can tell them: if a letter is placed awry

"The gentleman's a ram-cat in a passion, His back all crumpled o'er his head."

To go back then and take up his own words—"But when it is known that Mr. Jefferson never speaks of General Washington, but with the most profound respect; when it is known that he was perhaps more in his confidence than any other man;" &c. Now is there a reader who ever heard of General Washington and Mr. Jefferson, and is enough of a simpleton to swallow this? We shall not, however, put it hypothetically—Here are General Washington's own words—his own words—to show what he tho't of Mr. Jefferson, and his party with him, What subterfuge will be resorted to now? What will the Egis, the Chronicle, the Aurora, and the Citizen say to all this? Perhaps they'll call the letters a forgery—Let them if they dare. In the interim we invite every American to peruse them.

The last official letter of our illustrious and departed father General Washington, to John Adams, then President of the United States. The letter bears date after the passing of the Alien, Army, and Navy laws, against which such a hue and cry has been raised.

Mount-Vernon, July 13, 1798.

DEAR SIR,

I HAD the honor, on the evening of the 11th inst. to receive from the hand of the secretary of war, your favor of the 7th, announcing that you had, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed me "Lieutenant General and Commandant in Chief of all the armies raised, or to be raised, for the service of the United States."

I cannot express how greatly affected I am at this new proof of public confidence, and the highly flattering manner in which you have been pleased to make the communication; at the same time, I must not conceal from you my earnest wish that the choice had fallen upon a man less declined in years and better qualified to encounter the usual vicissitudes of war.

You know, Sir, what calculation I had made relative to the probable course of events, on my retiring from office, and the determination I had consoled myself with, of closing the remnant of my days in my present peaceful abode; you will, therefore, be at no loss to conceive and appreciate the sensations I must have experienced, to bring my mind to any conclusion that would pledge me, at so late a period of my life, to leave scenes I sincerely love, to enter upon the boundless field of public action, incessant trouble, and high responsibility.

It was not possible for me to remain ignorant of, or indifferent to, recent transactions.

The conduct of the Directory of France towards our country; their insidious hostility to its government; their various practices to withdraw the affections of the people from it; the evident tendency of their arts, and those of their agents to countenance and invigorate opposition, their disregard of solemn treaties and the laws of nations, their war upon our defenceless commerce; their treatment of our ministers of peace, and their demands, amounting to tribute, could not fail to excite in me corresponding sentiments with those my countrymen have so generally expressed in their affectionate addresses to you—Believe me, Sir, NO ONE CAN MORE CORDIALLY APPROVE OF THE WISE AND PRUDENT MEASURES OF YOUR ADMINISTRATION. They ought to inspire UNIVERSAL CONFIDENCE, and will, no doubt combined with the state of things, call from Congress such laws and means as will enable you to meet the full force and extent of the crisis.

Satisfied therefore that you have SINCERELY WISHED AND ENDEAVORED TO AVERT WAR, and exhausted, to the LAST DROP THE CUP OF RECONCILIATION, we can with pure hearts appeal to heaven for the JUSTICE OF OUR CAUSE—and may confidently trust the final result to the kind Providence who has heretofore, and so often, signally favored the people of the United States.

Thinking in this manner, and feeling how incumbent it is upon every person, of every description, to contribute at all times to his country's welfare, especially in a moment like the present, when every thing we hold dear and sacred is so seriously threatened; I have finally determined to accept the commission of commander in chief of the armies of the United States; with this reserve only, that I shall not be called into the field until the army is in a situation to require my presence, or it becomes indispensable by the urgency of circumstances.

In making this reservation, I beg it may be understood, that I do not mean to withhold any assistance to arrange and organize the army, which you think I can afford. I take the liberty also to mention, that I must decline having my acceptance considered as drawing after it any immediate charge upon the public; or that can receive any emoluments annexed to the appointment before entering into a situation to incur expense.

The Secretary of War being anxious to return to the Seat of Government, I have detained him no longer than was necessary to a full communication upon the several points he had in charge.

With very great respect and consideration, I have the honor to be, dear sir, your most obedient humble servant.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

To the same effect is a private communication from the same illustrious Character, contained in the following extract of a letter from Gen. Washington to Charles Carroll of Maryland, dated Mount Vernon, August 2, 1798, and is several months after the passing of all the laws, on which the democrats have founded their most bitter censure, of Mr. Adams and all the Federal party:

"Altho' (says Gen. Washington) I highly approve of the measures taken by government, to place this country in a posture of defence, and even wish they had been more energetic, and shall be ready to obey its call under the reservations I have made, whenever it is made: yet I am not without hope, MAD and INTOXICATED AS THE FRENCH ARE, that they will pause, before they take the last step. That they have been deceived in their calculations on the division of the people and the powerful support they expected from their party, is reduced to a certainty, though it is somewhat equivocal still, whether THAT PARTY, who have been THE CURSE OF THIS COUNTRY, and the SOURCE OF THE EXPENSES, we have to encounter, may not be able to continue THEIR DELUSION. What pity it is the expense could not be taxed up on them."

PHILADELPHIA, October 5.

By the schooner Adventurer, 13 days fr. C. Francois, we learn that many of the Negroes, rather than trust to the promises of the French Generals, keep the field, and are determined to die with arms in their hands; that they keep up a continual alarm within a few miles of the Cape; that about 15 days ago, a considerable firing was heard by the shipping for the space of two hours, said to be between the Negroes and a body, but the issue they did not learn. Our informant further adds, that the French have lost a great number of men by the bullet, as well as by the fever.

That a reinforcement of 8000 troops had arrived and an additional one was hourly expected.

Extra of a letter from Aux-Cayes, dated August 28.

"I am very sorry to inform you of the troubles here. This day several vessels have arrived from St. Louis, loaded with women & children. The blacks have got possession of the fort there, though not of the town. The inhabitants of this place are very much alarmed, as there are no troops to protect them. NORFOLK, October 2.

Late from the Mediterranean.
Captain Fletcher, of the ship Hitty, of Boston, 70 days from Leghorn, bound to Baltimore, has favored us with the following particulars:

That he left Gibraltar the 1st August, at which time the frigates Chesapeake & Adams, and the schooner Enterprise, were lying there. Was informed by Commodore Morris, that the Emperor of Morocco had proposed to make peace for six months, and had sent for Mr. Simpson, American Consul, who went over to Suter the 27th July in the schr. Enterprise, to meet the Governor of Tangiers, on that subject. Commodore Morris was waiting to know the result of the negotiation: which if favorable, he was to proceed up the Mediterranean. There were certain accounts of six sail of Tripolitan cruizers out, the largest of which mounts but six guns; they are all full of men. The Boston frigate, Captain, M'Neil, was at Naples the 14th July, and hourly expected at Gibraltar.

It was understood at Leghorn, that the English have refused to deliver up Malta; 200 British officers had been sent from Port Mahon to Malta, to take the command of the regiments there. Various were the conjectures respecting the circumstance; by some it is said, that the Maltese have refused to come under their ancient government; but the account most credited is, that the British are fearful of the division of Turkey.

It is with regret we state the loss of the French ship Neptune, 78 days from Havre de Grace, bound to this port with a valuable cargo of dry goods, coming to the address of Mess. A. & F. Tubeuf. She sunk 30 leagues from Cape Henry; the crew and passengers were picked up by the schooner Fanny, capt. Forlyth, from Turk's Island bound to New London, and landed at Hampton yesterday. Passengers, Messrs. A. Tubeuf, (of Norfolk) Johna Barney, Holmes, and O'Mealy, (of Baltimore) and 10 French gentlemen and Ladies.

Arrived the schooner Two Brothers, capt. Newell, 12 days from Port Republican. Left the schooner Polly, capt.
Mallory, of this port to sail for Jamaica in a few days.

Arrived in Hampton Roads, the ship Mary, capt. Bates, 26 days from Kingston, Jamaica, failed in company with the schooner Polly, Butler, for Philadelphia.
Left the brig Mary, Young, to sail for Norfolk the 10th Sept. Spoke the 26th.
ult. in lat. 30, long. 80, the schooner Mary, Pratt, from the Spanish Main bound to Boston.

Arrived the British brig Lady Nelson, capt. Wood, 65 days from Guernsey.

Arrived the sloop Mary Anne, capt.
Addison, 45 days from Madeira, in dif-tress, bound to Baltimore. The capt. informs, that when he left there, two brigs from New York (names not recollected) were missing. Mr. Pintard had had accounts of their being consigned to him a month before the departure of the Mary Anne. A schooner which failed in company, from Norfolk, bound to the same port, had not arrived the 12th of August. Sept. 26, in lat. 33, 30, long.
66, spoke the schooner —, captain Bowles, 7 days out from Charleston, for Martinique.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Leghorn, to his correspondent in New-buryport, dated July 8, 1802.

"Last evening I heard that an American brig from Marseilles to New York was captured by a Tripolitan corsair, and also a Swedish vessel; the Swede was re-captured by the United States schooner Enterprize, but the American was carried to Algiers. I have just seen the copy of a letter from consul O'Brien, dated Algiers, 26th June, which states the capture of the brig Franklin of Philadelphia, on the 15th.
On the morning of the 21st I saw, three leagues east of Algiers, another Tripolitan corsair, with a brig in her possession, standing to the eastward, which I take to be another American vessel. It is a fact that there are at sea at present 6 fail of Tripo-litan corsairs, and it is asserted that the frigates of the United States and those of Sweden, are blockading Tripoli.

"By a letter from Trieste, I have news of the arrival of the schooner Sea Flower, capt. Flanders, from Newburyport."

Citizen Dupont de Nemours, Traveller of the National Institute in the United States of North America arrived at Paris about the 5th of August.

At a late hour last evening we received accounts of the ship Fanny, capt. M'Cal-lister being below from Amsterdam, the touched at Cowes and had 35 days passage from the latter place, we are informed that she brings London dates to the 25th and Paris to the 21st of August—

The Royal Board of the Admiralty are obliged to you for your attention in send-cording to your proposal to make some experiments on the variation of the Magnetic Needle on board a vessel. We beg you will be so kind as to apply to captain Snedorff, an officer of the navy, and commander of the ship Seyeren, to whom we have given our orders on that subject.

Copenhagen, July 1.—The Board of the Admiralty of which the Crown Prince is the head, have imagined, that the mean variation on the meridian line extended from the Royal Observatory, proves how near the Variation Scheme can be applied to practice at sea. Although the coast of Sweden is in sight, there is a good horizon towards the sun-rising, and the success of the experiments have been such as to ensure the adoption of this new plan.

The ship which brought Mr. Churchman, has already failed for Russia, & it is understood he has been prevailed upon to stay here two weeks longer, on condition of going to Peterburg, or Cronstadt, at the expiration of that time in the ship Seyeren of 64 guns, which also takes on board the young midshipmen exercising for the navy of Denmark.

A Rotterdam paper of August 4, mentions that a number of French gentlemen had just departed from that place to Paris in order to accompany general Victor to Louisiana. Our latest accounts from England state, that 20,000 men were embarking at Brest for St. Domingo and Louisiana.

Extract of letters from an American gentleman in England, to his friend in Philadelphia.

LONDON, July 30.

Among the objects which have more particularly drawn my attention is the multitude of Southdown sheep, which are esteemed the finest breed in England. The attention and expence which are bestowed on the objects of raising and preserving particular breeds of cattle is almost incredible. This has been introduced and supported in a great measure by the influential example of the late Duke of Bedford; but the information which I have received from intelligent farmers induces me to doubt its general utility. As matters of experiment and novelty such things answer very well to evince what can be effected; but in order to prove the superior usefulness of innovations it is always right and proper to tell them by past experience. I find that large cattle must have a greater range of pasture in proportion than smaller cattle, that shall produce the same quantity in weight, and require much more attention. So minutely attentive are they to this breed of sheep that there are instances of their putting flannel jackets and caps on them after shearing, to prevent any injury from cold.
So jealous of keeping the breed to themselves, that it is declared felony to attempt to take them out of the kingdom; and so guarded against a mixture that no alien vessel is allowed to land a sheep unless security is given to take it away again. As it respects their sheep, I think this extreme caution is founded in sound policy, seeing the dependence of their manufactures on wool. As it respects horned cattle it certainly operates to the exclusion of the more hardy small breed, and has a tendency to enhance the price of Butcher's meat generally.

The farmers of this country are growing too scientific; and are departing rapidly from that rusticity (and in my opinion happiness) which characterized their forefathers. Formerly the farmers' daughters, in the Isle of Wight in particular, were noticed for their beauty, neatness and modest simplicity. In my late visit to the Island, I found with regret, that this character was materially changed.
They have caught the general contagion of finery; and instead of attending to the sale of their marketing, they have others to do it for them, while they stand by to give directions!—The farmers very generally through the kingdom have grown rich during the war, and it is no uncon-mon thing for their daughters to go to the market towns shopping in their chaise and pair. Instead of attending to the rural and domestic concerns of their farms, they have taken a decided station in the fashionable world; but why should I confine this observation to the country, for the same departure from plainness and former simplicity of living prevails throughout the whole kingdom.

An extreme propensity for show and expence pervades every grade of society.
Regardless of the adequacy of means, all seem to be thoughtlessly pressing to one common goal of distinction. The shopkeeper treads closely on the heels of the merchant, the merchant on the nobility; and the nobility on the court. This folly and false pursuit after happiness (for so I call it) may doubtless be traced to the evil growing out of frequent wars. War necessarily begets expence, expence increases the public debt: this throws suddenly into circulation an increased medium, operating as the influx of so much money, very beneficial to some classes of citizens, but equally prejudicial to others.

The splendor, luxury and unremitting round of variegated pleasures which are seen in every direction of this immense city, strike the superficial observer with surprise and admiration. This is the bright side of the question; but when the mind becomes tranquil and fitted to examine, analyze and compare the painful competitions, feivility and misery blended with it, to the American, duly appreciating the plenty, simplicity and independence of his own country, the preponderance will be decidedly in his favor.

Sept. 16.

To all whom it may concern.
A VERY extraordinary Notice appearing in the Alexandria Advertiser of yesterday, under the signature of Lucy Wilson, "forewarning all Persons from purchasing from me or any other Person who may be a NEGRO MAN SLAVE, by the name of POOL," I deem it proper to state certain facts relating thereto, which cannot be controverted either by her or her Agent. Negro POOL alluded to, was left to my Mother by her Sister, Mrs. Ann J. Gordon, along with the residue of her Estate, not especially mentioned in her Will, and the only Negro therein left to Lucy Wilson, is one the now possessor, of the name of Lucy. Pool has been in my Mother's quiet Possession for about twelve Years past, and is now my Property by Deed of Gift from her, dated July last. I shall now only further add, by introducing part of a Letter in my Possession, from one of the Executors, whose veracity will not be called in question, of which the following is an Extract: "I recollect that in several conversations with Mrs.
Gordon, while she was ill at my House, she complained of ———'s cruel treatment of Pool, and said she had determined to keep the Boy, that he should not be again in ———'s power; that she had never given John Gordon a Deed for him, but the would make Lucy Gordon amends for her taking the Boy back again, by giving her Lucy, Hannah's Daughter, and these sentiments he expressed at the time I wrote her Will. Pool was in Mrs. Gordon's possession at the time of her death, and was afterwards inventoried and hired out as part of her Property.
I related these circumstances to Mr. Campbell Wilson and Mrs. Wilson."

Dr. HAMILTON'S ELIXIR,
A sovereign remedy for Colds, Obsolete Coughs, Asthma, Catarrhs, Sore Throats, and Approaching Consumptions.

To parents who may have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it is an immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable—the Elixir is so perfectly agreeable and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

From LUTHER MARTIN, Esq. Attorney General of the State of Maryland.

I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever colds, coughs, or similar complaints have rendered medicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and a reliable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the breast, accompanied with foreboding and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hesitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deserving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN.
Mr. Abijah Henly, Bridge-Street, Baltimore, was cured by one bottle of Hamilton's Elixir of a very complicated disorder, occasioned by a feverish cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening sweats when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would frequently fail in such a degree that he could only attempt to whisper, he has been upwards of six weeks without a return of his complaints, and desires to give this public testimony in favour of this invaluable medicine.

Dr. Hamilton's GRAND RESTORATIVE,

is recommended as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints which result from dissipated pleasures—juvenile indiscretions—residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution—the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication, or any other destructive intemperance—the unskilful or excessive use of mercury—the diseases peculiar to females, at a certain period of life—bad lying-in, &c. &c.

And is proved by long and extensive experience to be absolutely unparalleled in the cure of Nervous disorders, Violent cramps in the Stomach and back,
Indigestion,
Cholera,
Gout in the stomach,
Pains in the limbs,
Relaxations,
Involuntary emissions,
Obstinate gleet,
Impotency, &c. &c.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obliquity of disease has brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a waiting of the death, which no nourishment or cordial could relieve, a perseverance in the use of this medicine has performed the most astonishing cures.

HAMILTON'S ESSENCE and EX-TRACT OF MUSTARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for gout, rheumatism, palsy, spains, bruises, pains in the face and neck, &c. &c. And has performed more cures in the above complaints than all the other medicines ever before made public.

From Dr. Weatherburn, Wyth county, Virginia.

Gentlemen,
I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Essence, or Extract of Mustard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatism (of that kind named sciatica, or of the hip joint) under which I had laboured for a long time, and which had baffled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment received into practice for the cure of this obstinate disease. If you think this letter useful you are at liberty to make it public.
Yours, &c.

P. WEATHERBURN.
John Hoover, rope-maker, South Second-Street, between Mary and Christian-Streets, Philadelphia, voluntarily maketh oath as follows, namely, that his wife, Mary Hoover, was so severely afflicted with a violent rheumatism, very dangerously situated, the consequence of a feverish cold after lying in, as to be confined to her bed for several weeks, and was at length reduced to the melancholy apprehension of remaining a cripple for life, notwithstanding the most respectable medical advice was followed, and every probable remedy attempted: when feeling several cases of cures performed by Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard, they were procured from Mr. Birch, No. 17, South Second-Street. The first application enabled her to walk across the room, and the use of one bottle restored her to her usual state of health and strength.

ing from worms, and from obstructions or foul-ness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever of similar title, to commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.
They are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions; feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and most efficacious purgative that can be used on any occasion.
Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tereos or large round worm, the Ascarides, or small maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm, and lastly the Tenia, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—itching in the nose and about the feet—Convulsions and epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech—starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Purgings, with slimy and fetid stools —Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with lowness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above sympoms, should have immediate recourse to HA-MILTON'S WOR DESTROYING LO-ZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children, a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our cities. It is likewise the most effectual and most certain remedy known and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

TAPE WORM.

Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn-keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about 20 months ago to be grievously afflicted with a tape worm, which increased fast in size and strength, so as to excite the most horrid sensations by its writhing motions and intolerable pains, resembling the gnawing and tearing of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and caused such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be conceived but by one in a similar situation—his appetite wasted rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any business—when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm lozenges, he took a large dose, which brought away about FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the possession of Lee & Co.)— but a renewal of his pains soon convinced him that this monstrous reptile had recovered its first vigour—Application was made to Lee & Co.
for more of their medicine, with their advice—from which resulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in several pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more.
A few months have since elapsed, and Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above facts are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbours, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject.
Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operation on the human body, even taken in large doses, as Mr. Fuller will testify—their particular mildness is abundantly evident in innumerable cures of infants.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, York-town, Pennsylvania.

Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOL-THER, minister of the Moravian church, in York-town.

York, January 4th, 1802.
Dear Sir,
Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children afflicted with worms. I procured a box for the use of my family, to try, whether by means of this medicine, I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accomplish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldest boy had a very sickly appearance, was very restless at night, grew leaner from time to time; in short, he seemed to be in a precarious state of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two doses of lozenges agreeably to the directions, which carried off a substance to all appearance a mere mucus, but upon close inspection quite replet with very small living animals. Not one of that fort of worms which usually afflict children came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better in health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasions I have used this medicine as a purgative substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belly-ache, or any of those disagreeable sensations, so often occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the whole, I judge this medicine to be, besides its main object, one of the most salutary means for restoring lost appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
JOHN MOLTHER.
